Programme on
Financing Infrastructure Projects

(January 28 - February 1, 2019)

Dear Sir/Madam,

ASCI is glad to announce its programme on Financing Infrastructure Projects to be held on a residential basis at Hyderabad from January 28 – February 1, 2019.

Financing of Infrastructure Projects has gained tremendous relevance due to the huge gap between the demand for infrastructure investment and the supply of infrastructure finance. It is imperative that innovative structures of financing these projects are developed so that the country is able to meet its infrastructure requirements. This programme has been designed to address this need and is focused on developing the expertise to evaluate infrastructure projects and evolve innovative financing structures. The programme is designed to go beyond theoretical concepts into the practical issues in designing project structures that are can attract private capital and are commercially viable. The participants will learn to leverage their subject knowledge to gain insights into real life case studies of projects that have successfully raised funds. The teaching methods used will be multimedia presentations, case studies and group exercises, which would stimulate and maintain a high level of intellectual involvement.

The brochure and nomination form are enclosed. Photocopies of the nomination form can also be used. Early nominations are advised to ensure that your nomination is included for consideration on first come first served basis. The nomination form, duly filled in, together with the programme fee, should reach us by January 21, 2019. Please contact the Programmes Officer or me in case you need any further information. My email address is: mubeen@asci.org.in

Looking forward to your response.

Thanking you,

Yours sincerely,

Mubeen Rafat

Programme on
Financing Infrastructure Projects

January 28 - February 1, 2019

INTRODUCTION

Infrastructure development is necessary if India has to achieve its target for GDP growth. According to the Economic Survey, India will need about USD 4.5 trillion in the next 25 years for infrastructure development, of which it will be able to raise about USD 3.9 trillion. A McKinsey study estimates that the share of total infrastructure financing in GDP will need to increase from around 3.8% to 5.6% in 2020 worldwide. Thus, the demand for infrastructure investments is likely to grow faster than output, and therefore tax revenues, leaving a huge gap. Even if the Government funding for new infrastructure comes from privatisation of existing infrastructure assets, there is likely to be a mismatch between infrastructure investment demand and the supply of infrastructure finance. Thus, infrastructure financing will need to come increasingly from the private sector and innovative approaches to funding such projects will need to be developed. Further, there is also a need to create a pipeline of well structured projects that can ensure a reasonable return on investment. Since structuring infrastructure projects involve multiple stakeholders, these projects require complex legal structures. In this context, developing the necessary expertise to develop commercially viable projects and innovative financing structures is essential to ensure that infrastructure investment needs are met.

This programme has been designed to provide the skills necessary to develop commercially viable infrastructure projects with appropriate risk allocation structures. The different methods that have been used to attract private capital and risk sharing through private public partnership will also be discussed. The issues in design, execution and implementation of these projects will be demonstrated through real life case presentations. The tools and techniques for analyzing project financing structures and evaluating the implications of the legal contracts on the viability of these projects will also be discussed in detail.

PROGRAMME OBJECTIVES

This course is designed to provide an overview of infrastructure project finance practices with particular emphasis on raising private capital. The programme objectives are:

- ▶ To develop skills in appraisal and evaluation of infrastructure projects.
- ▶ To gain insights into risk assessment and allocation techniques
- ▶ To understand the current practices in financing infrastructure projects
- ▶ To appreciate the practical issues in implementing long gestation infrastructure projects
