BUSINESS RISK MANAGEMENT

Programme Overview

Volatility in commodity markets, financial markets and the economy have a significant bearing on the way businesses are managed. As profitability comes under pressures, the risks faced by business must be understood at all levels of management. Today, it is widely understood that thorough evaluation of underlying risks is vital to the survival of any organisation, especially the large and structured organisations.

The programme provides an understanding of various types of risks faced by organisations. It examines how businesses can safeguard themselves from uncertainty.

Impact

- ◆ Appreciate the role played by enterprise-wide risk management in generating firm value.
- ◆ Comprehend tools, techniques and practices across various business functions such as purchase, treasury, operations, and most importantly audit. These include tools for measuring and prioritizing risks; tools for decision making and instruments for taking contractual coverage against risks.
- ◆ Appreciate the state of the art of business risk management.

Participant Profile

The programme is aimed at middle level executives and senior executives from financial and non-financial sectors, across all functions.
