Programme on

Data-Driven Decision-Making Using Analytics and AI

(December 08-12, 2025)

Administrative Staff College of India
(accredited as उत्कृष्ट by Capacity Building Commission, GoI)

PROGRAMME OVERVIEW

Data and algorithms are revolutionising organisational decision-making, driving efficiency and profitability. However, realising the full potential of big data requires enhancing stakeholders' analytical capabilities. While industries and government agencies are increasingly adopting applied econometrics, artificial intelligence (AI), machine learning (ML), the Internet of Things (IoT), blockchain, and data mining, a considerable skills gap remains.

This training programme, aligned with the Karmayogi Functional Competency Model (Data Analytics - Guna of Rājyakarma), is designed to equip officers, executives, and managers with expertise in applied econometric techniques and digital technologies. Participants will develop proficiency in data management by handling big data and leveraging analytics tools, data analysis and visualisation through effective exploration and interpretation, and data-driven decision-making by applying insights for strategic and impactful outcomes.

OBJECTIVES

The programme will help the participants to-

- ◆ Enhance their ability to make data-driven decisions using statistical models.
- ◆ Gain hands-on experience with Power BI and Tableau for real-time data visualisation.
- ◆ Understand key machine-learning techniques for classification, clustering, and forecasting.
- ◆ Explore how blockchain and IoT enhance transparency, security, and operational efficiency in governance and business.

CONTENT

Day 1: Foundations of Data Analytics

Introduction to data-driven decision-making, fundamentals of data analytics, significant data sources, and their impact on business strategy. Hypothesis and testing.

Day 2: Predictive Analytics & Business Intelligence

Exploration of econometric models (such as regression, classification) for trend forecasting and business decision-making. Hands-on exercises with Power BI and Tableau.

Day 3: Machine Learning for Strategic Decision-Making

Introduction to classification models and ML-based decision-making. Application of ML techniques in business contexts.

Day 4: Blockchain & IoT in Decision-Making

Understanding the role of blockchain in transparency and security. Exploring IoT's impact on real-time data processing and automation.

Day 5: Advanced Analytics & Capstone Project

Application of advanced analytics techniques through practical case studies. Participants will engage in interactive discussions on the impact of AI and ML on the industry and complete a capstone project by applying their acquired skills.

METHODOLOGY

The training will adopt an interactive approach, including classroom sessions, case studies, hands-on exercises, live projects, and experience-sharing sessions.

FACULTY

Dr Karnak Roy, Associate Professor with 17 years of teaching and training experience. He has trained thousands of officers in Data Analytics, Innovation Management, Research Methodology, and Data-Driven Decision-Making.

Dr. Sweety Pandey, Assistant Professor with 10 years of teaching and industry experience. She has trained officers in Data Analytics, Research Methodology, and Data-Driven Decision-Making.

Additionally, the programme will feature industry experts and subject matter specialists alongside college faculty.

PARTICIPANT PROFILE

This programme is designed for government officials engaged in policy research and decision-making and middle and senior-level managers from financial institutions and Banks, regulatory bodies,
